Fayetteville State University ...

I

*t 's what you make of it t ain't how you look t ain't what you wear
t ain't where you come from t ain't how much money is in your pocket"*

A historically black university with roots extending back 128 years to the Howard School, Fayetteville State University provides a comfortable atmosphere and a welcome hand to students from diverse backgrounds and cultures.

I

*It's how you see
It's what you feel
It's what you do
It's how you live"*

For more than a century, those who have completed FSU's rigorous academic programs, have emerged ready and able to join that special fellowship of educated men and women who have aspired to be leaders in their communities; to advance the frontiers of knowledge and teaching; and who are in control of their destiny.

*t's what you believe t's how hard you love
t's how loud you laugh t's the stuff you have in your heart"*

FSU is North Carolina's fastest growing institution of higher education. The expansion of campus facilities and growth of the student body have been complemented by improvements in virtually every aspect of university life.

I

*t's our spirit
t's our dedication
t's our hopes, dreams, and fears" t's our past, present and future
t is about setting goals
t's about making it happen*

FSU is what you make of it!!!

Excerpts taken from "What It Ain't" by Carol Lawrance

A tradition of excellence at Fayetteville State University has helped thousands of young men and women develop their inherent talents so that they are ready to compete successfully in business, health services, education, law, management, politics and other arenas. Fayetteville State University is indeed committed to the success of its students.

Dr. Donna J. Benson

Interim Chancellor

Fayetteville State University was very fortunate to have Dr. Benson, a profound scholar and educator, serve as Interim Chancellor from January 1, 1995 to November 14, 1995. Under her leadership, Fayetteville State University has accomplished many successes, such as renovation of our residence halls, beginning construction of a new residence hall and enhancement of campus security. Under Dr. Benson's tenure the university was awarded more research and service grants, and obtained funding for renovation and expansion of the Rudolph Jones Student Center. We believe that Dr. Benson will be successful in her future endeavors and we wish her the best.

Dr. Willis B. McLeod

Chancellor

Dr. McLeod began his term as Chancellor on November 15, 1995 at Fayetteville State University. He brings to us much potential for academic growth, because of his more than thirty years of professional expertise. Dr. McLeod is the first alumnus to serve as Chancellor of Fayetteville State University. We welcome Dr. McLeod as we strive for the continued growth of our University.

Making It Live...

Student Life

It happened whenever Broncos had some time to spend on anything other than studying or research papers. Maybe it was that three minutes before class, chilling in the cafeteria, or hanging out on the "yard." The Student Center was always a place to go.... especially when a game of spades was played. There were so many things to do, after all, balancing academics and social activities Make It Live!

Summer

Orientation

Summer orientation was held in July for incoming freshmen and transfer students. During orientation new students are transformed into true Broncos after taking profile exams, learning about campus life, and the history of our great university. New friendships are created by meeting campus leaders and people from many diverse places. Once you have experienced summer orientation at Fayetteville State University, Bronco Pride is not just an attitude, it's a belief.

Makin' Do

Moving Into
Residence Halls

During the course of the summer major renovations were started on all Residence Halls. At 8:00 am on August 28th, students anxiously awaited for the opening of newly renovated residence halls. Refrigerators, boxes, clothes, crates, t.v.'s, stereo's, students, and parents, crowded parking lots of residence halls that were still incomplete. However, in true Bronco tradition, we pulled together and made the best of the situation. We knew it would not be long before we would be makin' do in state of the art, fully air conditioned, renovated residence halls.

Makin' It Real

REGISTRATION

The lines that stretched outside of most administrative buildings on those hot and balmy days in August made the beginning of the school year REAL. Waiting in lines for hours, just to find out some classes were full, made the consequences of procrastination REAL. Waiting in line in the bookstore to find out they just ran out of the textbook that you waited so patiently for, made it REAL. Sitting in the lobby of Financial Aid to find out something you all ready knew made it really REAL. However, all the aspects of registration such as patience, persistence, and discipline are just a few of the aspects gained through registration experiences that will prepare us for the REAL world.

Makin' It Work

Career Exploration 95

Fayetteville State University students were makin' it work at this year's Career Exploration. This year, Career Exploration was held on September 2, 1995 in the Helen T. Chick Building. The Career Services and Placement Office hosted this program to give students an opportunity to talk with representatives and hand out resumes to businesses, county personnel, and governmental agencies. Corporations that participated included Federal Express and Sprint Carolina. The governmental agencies included were the Social Security Administration and the Defense Mapping Agency. This event was a huge success. Over three hundred students attended. FSU Broncos were Makin' It Work!

Makin' It Count

Student Elections

Candidates expressed their desire to be elected to their prospective offices during the Fall Election Campaign Speeches, and stated their commitment to FSU.

Students did turn out to make their vote count. Fall elections resulted in a strong student participation in the voting process.

Fall Convocation
1995

Fall Convocation marked the official start of the Fall Semester at FSU. Truly this was a great event from the beginning. This occasion included greetings from county, city, and state government officials. The Processional allowed students to see faculty and staff in caps and gowns from their diverse colleges and hear eloquent speeches from various guests. The Convocation Address was by Attorney Patricia Russell-McCloud, a nationally renowned, motivational speaker. Her speech outlined what must be done to succeed in today's world. The positive reaction by the audience conveyed the gratitude felt by these words of motivation.

Makin' Friends 'n-Fun

Cookout & Ice Cream Social

This year's Cookout and Ice Cream Social, sponsored by the Office of Student Activities, was a hit among FSU students. The cookout featured music, games, and just plain Bronco fun. The Ice Cream Social provided a brief relief from the heat of one of the hottest days of the year. Both activities gave students a chance to relax and make new friends.

Makin' An Encore Performance

By 7:15pm on Sunday night, February 18th, Seabrook Auditorium was nearly filled. People were standing outside, hoping to get a ticket to see the Alvin Ailey Dance Repertory Ensemble performance which was sponsored by the FSU Lyceum Committee.

The 1,200-seat auditorium and balcony were overflowing while hundreds of people were turned away after the performance became a sellout on the previous Friday.

The audience showed their appreciation with their applause during the evening's performance. The show ended with the late Alvin Ailey's signature piece "Revelations." After a standing ovation, the dancers responded by repeating the last work as the audience remained standing and clapped to the music.

University Day

Making Connections

Bronco's rolled out the "Blue" carpet for the more than 1,300 visitors who attended which included middle school, high school, and community college students, parents, and teachers.

University Day is one of the most important activities of the year because it encourages young people to gain the preparation necessary for success in higher education. University Day also helps students make the connection between the University and the public schools.

School Spirit. Students from different public schools get excited about FSU.

It's Great to be a Bronco! Dr. Bertha Miller welcomes participating schools to University Day.

Handle him gently. Keisha Ruliford demonstrates the proper way to handle a snake to a University Day participant.

Follow me please. Kelvin Thompson gives a tour of our picturesque campus.

Lending a helping hand. One of the University Day participants helps Dana Morris, a tour guide with a box of goodies to be given away.

Food Drive

Making A Difference In The Community.....

FSU Broncos collected nonperishable goods to distribute to families during the Thanksgiving season. Local agencies assisted in identifying two needy families in the Fayetteville community who would benefit. Sponsored by the Student Activities Council and the Office of Student Activities, the Food Drive was a huge success. Students, faculty, and staff contributed generous donations and helped to make a difference in the community.

Making a difference. Tonia Johnson, Greg Moyd and one of the recipients share a moment before the Thanksgiving Holidays.

Giving a helping hand. Douglas Barnes helps out by loading food for distribution to needy families.

Making it fit. Sam Hayes, Jerrell Joyner, and Mike Lowery pack the car tight with donated food items.

Reaching out to the community. Dennis McNair, James McLaurin, Tonia Johnson, and Sanita Tucker present food donations to one of the recipients.

Talent Show

"Showtime" at Seabrook

"Showtime," sponsored by the Office of Student Activities, showcased the many talents of the Bronco family. Jeff Anderson, Uzi-D, served as the MC for the evening.

Adante' mesmerized the audience and emerged victorious as 1st place winners. Trio Extreme placed 2nd and Annette Etheridge claimed 3rd place for her rendition of "From A Distance."

Students from all around packed out Seabrook Auditorium and enjoyed the show.

Enjoy the show..... SAC member Candy Miles hands a program to Melodie Edwards.

Sit back and enjoy the excitement. Jeff Anderson, "Uzi-D" welcomes everyone to an evening of excitement.

Sing like you mean it.....Annette Etheridge captivates the audience.

Bronco support. Students show their enthusiasm for all contestants.

First place winners Adante' captivates the audience with the song, "Nosy People."

Applause All contestants who participated in "Showtime" were winners.

Enjoying the show Shekeya Davis and Friends get into all of the acts.

Can U Stand the Rain? Illusion models display the latest in men's fashions.

A Night Out at "CLUB ILLUSIONS"

Illusions Modeling Club put on a "phat" show during the month of November in Seabrook Auditorium. The atmosphere was totally electric. Club music was provided for entertainment. The show featured the latest in men's fashions, leather coats and lingerie.

Illusions Modeling Club develops and inspires self-confidence, esteem, and poise in all members.

Just the two of us. Jerrrod Toney and Tori Reid make a serious fashion statement for couples.

Keeping warm... Kelly, Michelle, and James model leather coats to the tune of "Kiss from a Rose," by Seal.

Halloween night found many Broncos trying to solve the mystery of who killed the Grounds Keeper at the first Halloween Murder Mystery activity that was sponsored by the FSU Art Guild and the Office of Student Activities. Michelle Surles, Art Guild President, and other club members created a murder mystery for students to solve. Students worked in groups to uncover clues that would help them identify the murderer.

After the mystery was solved, Broncos played musical chairs, enjoyed refreshments and watched scary movies. Halloween night was definitely a thriller!

Who are those masked men? Perhaps... Dead presidents?

Keeping up with the music Students participate in "musical chairs" during Halloween.

In Search of Clues. Marcus Mansfield searches to find out who killed the grounds keeper.

Watch out for your neck! Michelle Surles is attacked by club members who helped sponsor Halloween Murder Mysteries.

MAKIN' IT BIG...

Christi Bradford

Christi Bradford, the former Miss Fayetteville State University, was named Miss Collegiate African-American 1995 at the ninth annual nationally televised pageant held at Walt Disney World in Orlando, Florida. Christi is a senior majoring in English Literature.

The pageant consisted of forty contestants representing historically black colleges and universities across the country. For talent, Christi sang "A Piece of Sky" from the movie "Yentl." Christi stated, "This was a way for me to sing both a song that the judges would appreciate, and at the same time not compromise my Christian ideals. The last four words of the song are: 'Papa, watch me fly.' That was my moment to shine."

Miss Collegiate African-American is Christi's second national title. In 1994 she was selected as the reigning Miss National Black College Alumni Hall of Fame.

Fayetteville State will receive a scholarship in Bradford's name at the end of her reign. Christi states, "I would like to see this donation used to enable more minority students to attend college, particularly those who might not otherwise be unable to continue their education beyond high school." FSU salutes Christi for Makin' It Big!

Coronation Ball A Royal Cruise

Let's Cruise! When you think of a Royal Cruise, wonderful thoughts come to mind-- basking in the sun, long leisure days, wonderful food and inviting drinks, enticing tropical ports of call, evenings filled with thrilling entertainment, fine dining, lovely ladies, and handsome gentlemen. Love and music is in the air. Broncos did indeed experience all of those wonderful things as we set sail on the FSU Royal Cruise for the annual Homecoming Coronation.

Numerous organization queens (and one lone king) representing the classes, residence halls, greek organizations, social fellowships and clubs were presented during the evening. The climax of the night was the crowning of Miss Homecoming. Latonya McNeill. Oneaka Mack-Humphrey was selected 1st Runner Up and Tawyna Greene as 2nd Runner Up. The evening culminated with music and dance as we cruised together making it a grand affair for everyone aboard.

Very striking! Jeff Anderson and Ganeshia Robinson, the master and mistress of ceremonies, served as our tour guides for the evening.

Tonight belongs to us. Taunya Reliford and Rodney Lashley set sail together.

All aboard! Broncos attending the event enjoyed an evening of grace and splendor.

Miss Homecoming - 1995

Our new Homecoming Queen. Miss FSU, Kenyatta Morrisey, helps with the crowning of our Homecoming Queen.

Royal Class Miss Homecoming and the homecoming contestants.

The Million Man March

FSU men participated in the Million Man March held on Monday, October 16, 1995 in Washington, D.C. They departed from FSU at 9:00 p.m. on Sunday and arrived in Washington around 5:00 a.m. the following morning. It was a long ride but well worth it because men from across the United States gathered together in unity and peace.

On campus, Broncos held a march to show support. Students marched, male students from Seabrook Auditorium and females from the Physical Education and Recreation Complex, to the Student Center to watch the nationally televised march. Students felt it important to express unity on this "day of atonement". This event made history and will live in our hearts and souls forever!

Homecoming 1995

The Pajama Jammy Jam and Bronco Feud were two events that kicked off homecoming with a bang!! Students from all over campus came decked out in their pajamas and ready to party. The Pajama Jam left everyone pumped up for the next Homecoming event, Bronco Feud. Students packed the Student Center's Multi-Purpose Room to participate in the game show that was patterned after Family Feud. Resident and off campus students participated and had a great time answering questions concerning campus issues, the cafeteria, songs, and other areas of popular interest. Both events, sponsored by the Student Activities Council, set the tone for Homecoming 1995 to be alive and revived.

Lullaby and Goodnight!!!

"Vanna" Candi Stevens shows the top five answers surveyed.

Here comes the Judge!! SGA president Wayne Hodges listens closely at the answers given during Bronco Feud.

Homecoming 1995

For the first time Karioke Night and a Carnival were held during Homecoming. The Student Center was transformed into "Club Bronco" for Karioke Night. We were entertained by students while SAC members took orders and graciously served free pizza and drinks.

The first Carnival was held in the Lilly Gym. Games, food, and prizes were the centerpiece of attention. FSU clubs and organizations turned out in large numbers to set up booths to sell items. Although the rain forced this event indoors, it did not dampen the spirit and fun.

Making a Selection! Michelle McDaniels, Makita Wordrick, and Emanuel Brunson study the song book to pick just the right song.

I've splattered and I can't get up!!

Sedric Utley took participation to a whole new level as he enjoyed the Human Velcro game.

Homecoming Game - FSU versus JC Smith

FSU Broncos witnessed a good football game against Johnson C. Smith Golden Bulls. The football team fought hard by showing powerful moves on offense and defense.

During halftime we were entertained by the Marching Bronco Express. The Homecoming Court featured Willie Bell, Chief of Police; Dr. Donna Benson, Interim Chancellor; Wayne Hodges, SGA President; Kenyatta Morrisey, Miss FSU; Orlando Ceville, Mr. FSU; LaTonya McNeill, Miss Homecoming; Dr. Dallas Freeman, National Alumni President; and Nadine Gilbert, Miss Alumni Association. Broncos made the game by showing support and enthusiasm.

STUDENT SAFETY SQUAD

The function of the FSU Student Safety Squad is to act in a supporting role for the FSU Police. They assist in the area of crime prevention by providing escorts for members of the community after dark and by detecting and reporting suspicious activity and/or criminal activity. The Student Safety Squad was formed in the Fall of 1994.

Administration/Academics

Academics is why we are really here.....right? Fayetteville State University offered majors in everything from education to nursing. But come on, there was so much more to learning than being confined to a desk inside a classroom. Even our professors encouraged us to make it work by attending plays, and to read books for personal enrichment instead of just for class. Sometimes mid-term exams, term papers, and reading stressed us out to the point that we wanted to pack up and go home, but we couldn't. Administration, Faculty, and staff worked with us because we had to succeed!

Academics are most important at Fayetteville State University. Offering Baccalaureate degrees in 38 disciplines, Master's degrees in business, education and the arts and sciences and a Doctoral degree in Educational Leadership, the University exposes students to a wealth of knowledge. A strong curriculum offered through the University college, thoroughly prepares students for upper level courses and ultimately for the world of work.

At FSU professors make the difference. The University believes that students' lives are forever enriched by interaction with distinguished academicians, rigorous courses of study and challenging research. Courses and educational programs are designed with one primary goal in mind—to help young men and women expand their horizons and achieve academic success while making their dreams come true.

Fayetteville State University is organized into the College of Arts and Sciences, which includes the University College and an ROTC program; the School of Business and Economics; and the School of Education.

Trying to remember. Michael Johnson studies Critical Thinking.

African American Literature. Instructor Lynn Jefferson addresses class.

Preparing for Business class. Tracey Lamotte and Justin VerLinger discuss statistics in the SBE lobby.

Under the helpful eye of Dr. Valeria Fleming. Racella McNair, Amy Morton, and George Stockhausen conduct an experiment.

Lecture Time. Dr. Hughes reviews the correct formula.

Study partners. Miriam Salas, Darlene Hughes, and Audra Rosendahl prepare for class in the Chesnutt Library.

Making the grade at Fayetteville State University is the top priority. Broncos spend countless hours attending class, writing research papers, completing case studies, conducting experiments and studying for exams.

Fayetteville State University is committed to the academic success of its students ensuring that they will matriculate, graduate and depart to make a difference in the world.

Making it Abroad

Book Donation and Study Abroad Program

FSU Broncos heeded to the call from Ghana, West Africa concerning the need for books. Through Mr. Mason's effort, Project Coordinator, a total of 5,248 books and journals were collected.

FSU's study abroad program provides opportunities for students to study in foreign countries and receive credit and hands on experiences in their area of study. The program provides for summer school study in the countries of Costa Rica, Ghana in West Africa, and Gabon in Central Africa. Students may also study in the Dominica Republic during the fall or spring semester. Dahlia Thompson, Clarita Rodriguez and Melissa Davis were the three students who traveled to the Dominica Republic and made it abroad!!!

Ready for shipment. FSU Broncos share a moment before shipping the books to Ghana.

Ready to Go.
Melissa Davis was one of the students who studied abroad.

Excited about the opportunity. Students Dahlia Thompson and Clarita Rodriguez receive their travel plans from Mr. Mason.

Seniors: Send

What advice would you give to the underclassmen?

"Stay focused, consider the time, and learn to be an independent scholar."

Wayne Hodges

"Be responsible for completing course work and maintain good behavior."

Deborah Williams

"Follow your handbook very closely. Get involved with career placement early."

Candi Stevens

"Know what you want to major in by your sophomore year. Focus on your studies and community service."

Tonia Johnson

Your Message

What advice would you give to the underclassmen?

Latasha Miller

"Always strive for the best. Never let anyone pressure you into settling for less than you deserve."

Laura Langaker

"Work hard, be committed when it comes to extra-curricular activities. Get involved with academic programs related to your major. Work to uphold traditions of the university."

Letitia Cherry

"Never underestimate yourself. Don't make excuses. You can make it as long as you put forth the effort. There is nothing you can't obtain."

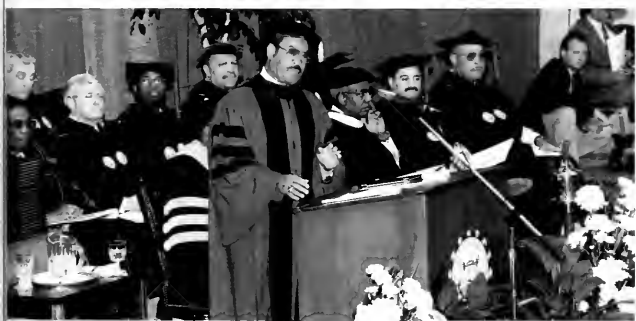

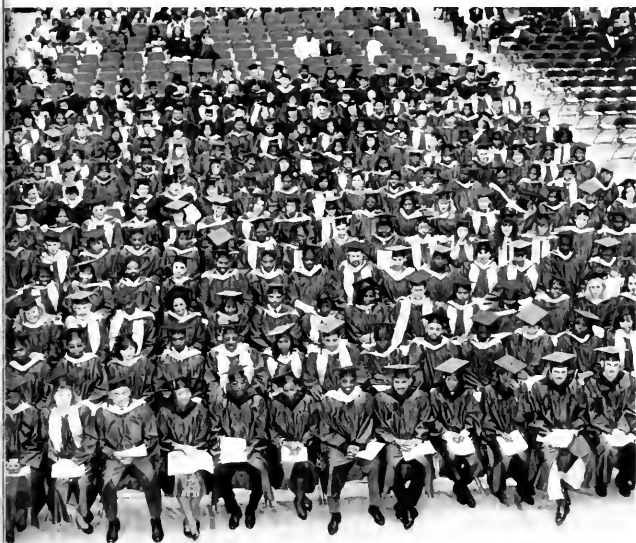

Tonjai Robertson

"Get involved in student issues and administration. Keep your grades up. Take advantage of opportunities concerning your major and cultural awareness. Utilize your time."

Seniors

Dr. Shaw, President of Shaw University delivers the commencement address to the Fall Class of 1995.

We pledge our support to FSU... Fall 95 graduates recite the alumni pledge.

Graduation...

the Culmination of Making the Most of It!

Not everyone managed to make it through college in four years. A change in majors or dropping classes could add extra semesters during a college career.

The time just before graduation was often filled with worries and anxiety. Layoffs and a fluctuating job market was a source of anxiety for many students. On Graduation Day However, feelings of pride, relief, happiness and excitement were the dominant emotions that filled the day.

Graduation was the culmination of making the most of it.

Making It A Reality...

Underclassmen

Underclassmen. Life as an underclassman is never dull. There is always the freedom to make a choice with whom we become friends or where we hang out. Few people are just faces in the crowd. Someone always knows somebody else. During our years as underclassmen we make it real by identifying with people with similar interests and joining different clubs and organizations. As we mature, we become more independent and more focused on the upcoming challenges. We come to realize the importance of individualism. During our years as underclassmen here at FSU we turn our dreams into reality.

Making It As A Community Assistant

Community Assistants, better known as CAs, are student leaders who are selected to work with incoming freshmen. CA's provide peer counseling and assist freshman in making the transition from high school to college life.

Why do you like being a CA?

"It gives me the opportunity to have a positive influence on the lives of freshmen and help them grow and mature during their first year." Linda Barden

"The position allows me to interact with first-time freshmen and transfer students who are not familiar with Fayetteville State and help them to make adjustment into college." Robbin Powell

SUBMISS

Making It As A Resident Assistant

Resident Assistants are student leaders selected by staff to assist with the general daily administration of the residence halls and are more commonly known by their abbreviated title RA. The position provides opportunities for students to become leaders, and at the same time provide support so that the residence halls operate successfully.

Why do you like being a RA?

"As an RA you have to pull your share and be responsible for your floor to ensure that it is clean and orderly. Serving as an RA keeps me involved." Kyle Baylock

"The RA position gives me the opportunity to meet a diverse group of people, and it allows me to touch base and have a better relationship with administration." DeJuan Taylor

Making It As A Commuter

Making it at as a commuter can be challenging. However, Denise Whitfield faces these challenges with ease. In addition to the normal worries and pressures of a college student, Denise must also take care of her husband and children and fight the traffic from Fort Bragg to make it to class on time. Balancing one's time is a key factor. Denise explains that because of her family responsibilities, she tries to complete assignments at school before arriving home. Her typical day begins at 6:00 a.m. and ends around 1:00 a.m. She finds time to study after her children are in bed and the household chores have been done.

Denise does have to make some sacrifices. Because her day is so busy, she finds it hard to get involved in school activities and attend extracurricular functions. She spends the majority of her time studying in the Chesnut Library. Occasionally, Denise does manage to find time to grab lunch in the Bronco Corral; but most days, she eats while studying in the SBE lounge. Despite her hectic schedule, Denise says that she is satisfied with what FSU offers. Denise is confident that upon graduation, she will be prepared to start her career as a CPA.

Taking a break. Denise Whitfield rises to the challenge as a commuter student.

Charles Choe, a freshman, also makes it as a commuter. Originally from Seoul, Korea, Charles now resides in Fayetteville with his parents. Charles states, "I enjoy being a commuter because I don't have to worry about laundry, meals, a roommate, or disturbances while studying." The thing he doesn't enjoy however, is having to get up early to arrive to class each morning by 8:00 a.m.

His typical day at FSU is spent attending class and studying in the library. In between classes, Charles can be found eating lunch in the Bronco Corral. When he goes home, he studies from 7:00 p.m. - 12:00 a.m.

Charles says being a commuter is not difficult. He says he is pleased with the academic program as well as the social activities here at FSU. He especially enjoys hanging out in the game room in the Student Center and being involved with the mentoring program.

Charles is very serious about his success at FSU and his goal is to make it to medical school.

Making It As A Commuter

Making SMALL Talk

Eating in the Cafe

Although we entered the H.L. Cook Dining Hall and the canteen to grab a bite to eat or a snack to ward off the munchies, the major focus during meal time was generally the conversation. Gathering to talk with friends, review notes, laugh about the happenings of the day, or find out about upcoming events made mealtime memorable and enjoyable no matter what was on the menu.

These cookies are really tasty...Delven Mearvis and Mun Coriners chat over lunch.

How has your day been going? Akia Victor catches up on the latest events with friends Shaneice Miller, Chiquita Wells, and Danielle Wright.

Man, this doesn't taste bad... Malik Bazzell and Norman Tyson enjoy their meal.

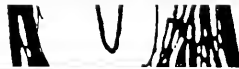

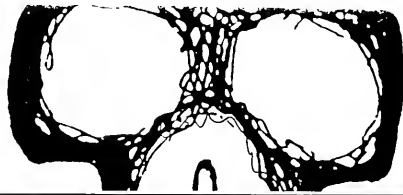

I'll have corn with that.. Larry Bratcher makes sure that he selects vegetables to complete a balanced meal.

I think this dressing will taste better. Dewayne Frierson prepares to add flavor to his salad.

Making It Happen...

For most Broncos, athletics was an important part of student life. If we were not spectators, then we were making it happen as team players.

Whether we were roughing it up on the football field, shooting hoops in the New Gym, teeing off on the golf course, or cheering in the stands, Broncos were found giving it their all and making great things happen.

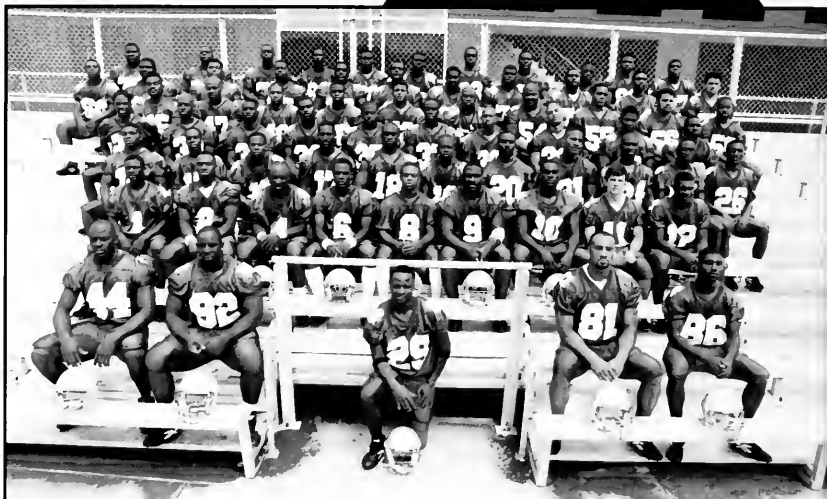

Passionate....an intense and strong love for and devotion to Bronco football.

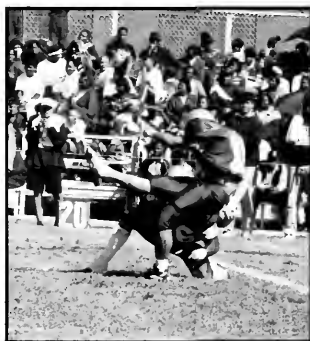

The quarterback always relies on strong receivers for important plays. Evading the clutches of a WSSU defender, Lamont Robinson prepares to throw a pass to an awaiting receiver.

Additional points. Teresa McMillian helps the Lady Broncos win a home game.

First row: Tara Jackson, Reeshemah Parkinson, Shante Morgan
 Second row: Arlana McCutchen, Angela Pryor, Monique Sharpless
 Third row: Teresa McMillian, Christina Hollins, Alvita Williams

Determined to win. Lady Broncos defeat the opposing team during a home game.

It's my turn.
Senior Monique Sharpless prepares to serve.

To play volleyball for FSU requires a player to have absolute dedication, a good attitude, and love for the game. Because of hard work and persistence, the volleyball team placed second in the Southern Division and third in the CIAA Tournament. Teresa McMillian and Reeshamah Parkinson made the All CIAA Volleyball team and Coach Hill was voted Coach of the Year.

FSU's volleyball team excels well on the court and in class. Seven out of ten players made the Dean's List during the fall semester with 3.0 grade point average or above.

Fayetteville State University...

It's how you think

It's the way you express yourself

It's how you see the world

It's about making a difference...

An unknown author once stated, "What you put into something is what you get out of it!" These simple but profound words can be applied to every aspect of life. The Fayettevillian Staff selected the theme, "It's What You Make of It!", because we felt that it truly captures the FSU experience.

I

*It's about pulling together
It's about overcoming obstacles
It's making it work
It's exceeding expectations...*

Students who enter the University with a mind set to perform well academically and who get involved in extra-curricular activities make the difference at Fayetteville State University. Those who take advantage of the many vast opportunities find the benefits far reaching. The education and life skills gained at FSU lays a firm foundation for a future that will be both prosperous and benevolent.

t's about making it last forever

t's about integrity

t's about respect

t's about principle

t's "Deeds not Words!"
